

Broker Website Consent Form

Release/Consent for Information to be Published on Cboe Website

Purpose

In order to assist market participants that would like to engage in transactions in the Cboe index options and futures products referenced below, Cboe provides a list of brokers on its website that have indicated to Cboe that they offer brokerage services in one or more of these products and requested to be included on this list.

This list is provided solely for informational purposes and not as an endorsement of any particular broker. No significance should be attached to a broker's inclusion or omission. The list may not be exhaustive since the list only includes those brokers that have requested to be included on the list. In connection with compiling this list, Cboe does not investigate the background or disciplinary history of any of the brokers listed or whether or not they have any required registration status.

Any broker that would like to be included on this list or to have its listing revised or removed should complete this Broker Website Consent Form (Form) and e-mail it to MarketingTeam@cboe.com.

Listing Information

A participating broker agrees that Cboe may publish on cboe.com the broker's company name, the broker's website address, the broker's logo, that the broker provides brokerage services in the Cboe products identified below, the regions identified below in which the broker provides these services, and the supported features that the broker makes accessible identified below for each product.

Cboe plans to request periodically that a participating broker re-confirm and/or update the information provided on this Form. Cboe may remove a participating broker from the above-described listing on cboe.com if the broker does not respond in a timely manner to a request from Cboe to re-confirm and/or update the information provided on this Form.

Any request to alter the information provided in this Form must be made through a subsequent submission of this Form with the updated information.

The information included by a participating broker on any subsequently submitted Form supersedes and replaces the information included by the broker on any earlier submitted Form.

Please contact MarketingTeam@cboe.com if you have any questions.
